

Liability and Quantum reports from Bush & Co

Our Expert Witness service provides medico-legal reports for both quantum and liability to claimant and defendant solicitor and insurers.

Established over 35 years ago, our expert witness service is made up of over 70 clinical professionals across the UK, giving you confidence that we can find you the perfect match for your expert witness quantum and liability reports.

Full Liability Reports - CPR Compliant (Part 35)

Our Full Liability Reports can be provided for both Claimant and Defendant instruction. Preparation of the report includes perusal of evidence bundle, including medical records, expert reports, witness statements; detailed analysis of the background of the case and any associated, supportive clinical research.

The opinion of the associate expert witness will set out in detail the standard of care provided, including any breach of duty identified, in relation to reasonable practice, referring to best practice and clinical guidelines applicable to the time the injury occurred +/- or the care in question was provided. Causation will be addressed if required within the instruction.

Short Form Liability Reports/Screening Report - Not for disclosure

Our Short Form Liability Reports are designed to provide advice/guidance to the instructing party regarding the merit of a potential claim. Our associate expert witness will review all evidence provided and their expert opinion will be provided to establish potential areas of breach (Claimant report), or to respond to allegations set out in a Letter of Claim (Defendant report).

Full Quantum Report

Our Full Quantum Reports are court compliant and written following a comprehensive assessment of the claimant as part of a complex or high value case.

The report you receive following assessment will include: clinical evaluation of the claimant; recommendations regarding past, current and future care, therapy and/or therapy needs; costs including the source of costs, equipment therapy and care provision; and reference to relevant clinical guidelines and evidence-based research where required

Short Form Quantum Report

Our short Form Quantum Reports are a desktop report using evidence and documents provided by the instructing party following a telephone assessment.

These reports are non-court compliant and are useful in lower value cases or as a preliminary report early on in the case. The report is used to assist in understanding the potential value of a case and to provide an overview of the potential care and therapy which may be required, particularly where interim payments are being considered.
